

The Life Skills Development programme is part of the wider SEND provision at Bore Place. It can be delivered as a stand-alone programme, or alongside our Work Related Learning programme, and tied in with a wide range of curriculum areas.

The Life Skill Development programme will be tailored and delivered at a pace and level suited to the needs of the group.

The themes we explore and develop include:

- Personal health and wellbeing
- Identifying risks and making personal decisions
- Forming relationships and understanding others
- Learning to be financially capable
- Building confidence, self-esteem and emotional awareness
- Developing communication skills in a place other than school or home
- Developing skills for friendships and working with colleagues
