About Bore Place

Bore Place is the home of the Commonwork Trust, a registered charity dedicated to nature recovery and environmental education. Every week, we support over 200 young people, including those with special educational needs, to get outdoors, explore, and connect with nature through hands-on learning activities.

Your support enables us to increase our impact on the land, enhancing wildlife habitats, boosting biodiversity, and giving more young people the chance to experience the benefits of time outdoors.
